Lifting the Veil: Opportunities for the Soul at the Autumnal Equinox

Ronna Prince and Willkasara Saturday, September 19

7:00 - 9:00 pm
Sedona Creative Life Center

The autumn equinox is a time of consciously invoking balancing energies. It is also a time when the veil between this world and other planes is thinnest. It is during this time that we may receive the clearest answers to the penultimate question: "why are we here?" And from this clarity, we may receive the answers to question: "Where are we going? Subtle and not so subtle changes set in as the days grow shorter, changes that take place on a metabolic level and in the environment around us. As we prepare for winter, our consciousness shifts from the more active mental to the more psychically receptive state appropriate to the dark half of the year. This time of shifting gears is psychically and psychologically turbulent but can be exhilarating rather than distressing if we recognize and understand the significance of these natural phases.

Join Ronna Prince, conscious channel of the Ascended Masters to explore Lifting the Veil – Remembering who we are. Ronna's primary guide is Master Kuthumi who will address how to create balance in these times of shift on the metabolic and metaphysical levels. As Kuthumi says: "never before have you had such an opportunity to become your own greatest teacher and healer. It is simply a matter of remembering how." During the channeling, he will provide you with the tools of remembering and keys to the door that have no lock other than inner lack.

A balancing meditation from the Masters will complete the 45-minute channeling during which Kuthumi will reveal surprising connections between the inner and outer worlds. After the main message is delivered, the Masters will respond to your questions with compassionate answers that bring in wisdom and understanding.
